E LEARNER MODULES

INTRODUCTION

The RED on-line Driver Risk Management (DRM) programme is designed to be most effective when taken as a whole, however we fully understand that some clients wish to dip in and out and select the various elements as suits their business best. As such all of the elements can be selected individually providing both a fully flexible and affordable programme for all.

BENEFITS

E Learners are delivered to every driver as part of the RED DRM programme and are designed to reinforce, and keep fresh, other training messages from in vehicle, workshop or webinar sessions. RED E Learners can also be delivered as standalone, seasonal, or even created for specific client specific reasons.

E-LEARNER MODULES

The RED E-Learner modules are regularly updated and added to, keeping the programme both fresh and relevant. When taken as part of the RED Driver Risk Management (DRM) programme the number and period at which they are delivered is selected by the client at the outset (although this can be altered at any time). The default setting is to deliver 1 module every quarter and the order is selected by the driver during their RED Driver Profiler (RDP) completion (this can be over-ridden). Each module takes between 5-10 minutes to complete and consists of about 5 screens of information followed by 5 questions. The module is not scored however, the questions being present to encourage drivers to read properly the information provided. Deliberately, there is no flash or moving footage so as to be compatible with all computer systems however static images are utilised.

Where taken as part of one of the RED DRM packages, the e-learner modules are free of charge.

For individual modules taken outside of this there is a charge of £6.50. Both of these options are payable in advance, ex VAT and modules are selected by the driver or client as appropriate e-learner modules are required.

SUMMARY

Whilst every effort has been put into creating interesting and engaging e-learner modules it should be remembered that these modules are not designed to replace practical driver training, they never have been and will never be capable of doing so. They have been designed to try and engage with drivers, encourage them to take more responsibility and where taken as part of the RED DRM package to provide a regular reminder to drivers of their responsibilities!
